The class on therapeutic oils/bath products was simple, fun, and gave me a head start on my Christmas list! I saved money making a better product than I could have bought in a store. I did it as a girls' night in my kitchen and ended up planning it as a once a month event. Highly recommend.

I started out taking classes with AromatherapyWorks for fun, but then my family starting asking me to make items for them. Something for dry skin. Something to help them sleep. You get the idea...then friends started making requests of their own. I never thought about doing this for profit, but it's been a nice surprise! And yes, guys like this stuff too.
